SUNBURST COLLECTION

Materials: fiberglass, eco-resin, amber pigment

It is the result of an artisanal and experimental work, with different levels of transparencies and shades of amber. Following a study of resin samples, molds and smaller-scale prototypes.

Dimensions: Lung table 1.0 h52x25x25cm,
Lung table 2.0 h40x40x27cm,
Sunburst sconce 1.0 80x60x6cm

The Lung tables

The objective was to reach the unpredictability of the material. Testing on different temperatures while the material solidified and exposing it to natural deformations of the surface made the sun.

The intensity of deformation varies depending on when it was crafted.

Strongly undulated in the summer, while in winter it becomes calm.

It is a piece that portrays a living being, through organic forms and color gradients.

The reflections that appear under light, evoke the waters that are part of its existence. An emotional bond with the space.

A nostalgia for the identity of the environment and the relationship with nature.

The Sunburst Sconce

It is the symbolic prominence of the sun and the dual relationship between light and darkness. A ritual portrayed with geometry and balance. Capturing the ephemeral moment that is a sunset.

A water gradient with a matte finish has been achieved, which interacts with a neon ring installed behind it. The wall lamp radiates various tonalities of warm light, as it adapts its glow's intensity to the ambiance.

A conceptual work based on a dialogue between construction and deconstruction. Forms with nostalgia for the deterioration and decay of architectural and natural elements. Pieces that blur the limit between human footprints and nature. Applying disregarded skills with up-to-date materials. After a study based on ceramic shapes, seeking for balance and harmony, through the idea of deconstruction before building. Resulting into two functional pieces that are part of the Ruins series.
